ASK RUSSIA TO GIVE JEW JUSTICE

Hebrew Business Men Present a Written Statement to M. Witte.

COMBAT ARGUMENT JEW NOT READY FOR LIBERTY

Point Out That Those Driven to Seek Refuge Here Make Good Citizens.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-What is announced to be the full text of a letter concerning Russia's treatment of the Jews submitted to Sergius Witte, the Russian peace envoy, by a committee of Hebrew bankers and merchants, is published today by the American. The communication is signed by Jacob H. communication is signed by Jacob H. Schiff, Jacob Seligman Adolph Lewischn and others. It covers thoroughly the arguments and contentions of the committee made before M. Witte by the delegation recently for the amelioration of the conditions under which people of the Hebrew race now live in the land of Emperor Nicholas. Civil and political liberty for the Jews, on an equality with all other Russian subjects, is ity with all other Russian subjects, is the keynote of the communication.

Submitted in Writing.

"Mindful of our privileges in meeting you during your recent stay at Portsmouth," the letter says, "we deem it well before you leave the United States and return to your own country to submit in writing, if only for a thorough understanding or for further reference, some of the statements to which we gave expression when we had the privilege of visiting you and of listening to lege of visiting you and of listening to your valuable views. "We believe that the claim of the Russian Government that the question of the condition of the Hebrews in Russia is a purely domestic one with which the people and government of other countries have no concern can no longer be maintained.

Cause for Criticism.

"When a government, either through the application of exceptional laws, or by other means, forces great masses of its subjects to seek to improve their condition through emigration to other countries, the people of these countries which give an asylum to such refugees from persecution and oppression, may, with entire propriety, criticise the con-citions which have caused such an influx into their country, and may properly insist that these conditions shall be improved in such a manner and to such extent that the causes of the forced emigration shall cease to exist, and this without justifying the charge of their meddling with affairs that should not concern them.

Attitude of Americans.

"This we believe to be the attitude of the American people in general. We as Jews, have the added interest in the condition of the Jews in Russia which ties of race and faith always and prop erly call forth, and we deem it, there-fore, nothing less than our plain duty to do all in our power to procure an amelioration in their status.
"As we stated to you at our confer ence, it is our very decided conviction that nothing but the granting of full civil rights to the Jewish subjects of the Czar will entirely remove the con-ditions which have been the cause of so much disturbance in Russia and ad-verse criticism abroad. You have answered us that the Russian Jew in gen-eral is not sufficiently prepared for the exercise of full civil rights, and that the Russian people is such that the Jew cannot be placed on an equal footing with them without causing serious internal disorders, and you have sug-gested that it might be advisable and practicable gradually to remove exist-ing disabilities and thus to prepare the way for an eventual total granting of civic equality.

Become Good Citizens Here.

"As to this, we aver that the million or more Russian Jews who have come to the United States have become good citizens, notwithstanding their sudden emergency in connection with the dark-ness into the most intense daylight of political and civil liberty, and that they have shown themselves entirely equal to the responsibility which has been placed upon them as citizens of this great Republic

Jewish influence in the United States, especially political, already carries great weight, and is steadily increasing, being constantly recruited from the large immigration of Russian

'Can it be expected that the influence of the American Jew upon public opinion will be exerted to the advantage of the country which systematically de-grades his brethren-in-race, making their lives almost unendurable?

Must Be Settled in Russia.

"No matter how many Jews may im-migrate, there will always remain a minimum of six or seven million Jews in Russia, and thus it appears quite evident that the Russo-Jewish question must be settled in Russia-settled promptly and throughly in the en-lightened spirit which your imperial master has shown in so many other inmaster has shown in so many other instances. This vexatious question will remove at once and forever a factor so damaging to Russia at home and abroad. We therefore, earnestly hope that the exchange of views which has taken place between us may lead to that solution which we are convinced you and the other best minds of your country actually desire."

DRINK LESS, GAMBLE MORE.

London Clergyman Deplores Bad Example Set by Business Men.

LONDON, Aug. 31 -Under the terms of the Dibdin Brand Charity founded last year for the benefit of the poor of Holborn, there is a provision for the preaching of an annual sermon against betting and gambling. The first discourse was and gambling. The first discourse was delivered this year at the midday service at the city temple by the Rev R. J. Campbell, one of the best known ciergymen in London. The preacher said it was a matter of gratification that in the last twelve months the drinking habits of the people had undergone some amendment. But with regard to gambling there were no signs of diminution. There was a section of society which set a had example to the rest and if one-half the stories heard of excesses at the gaming table were true it was a reflection upon England. "But how many commercial men who table were true it was a reflection upon England.

"But how many commercial men who listen to me," asked the preacher, "ever pause to think what a large part of the sin of hazard lies at the door of business? The man who is clever at producing something which did not add to the wealth of the community abounded in our midst, and instead of being regarded as the bloodsucker he was we gave him titles and honors. Men were striving to get rich quickly and in doing so to secure as large a portion for themselves as they could. If Jabez Balfour's speculations had only succeeded a little sooner, he would have been a greater man than ever, and would have been still more highly esteemed. Men who are guilty with the same sort of thing every day were rewarded with honors. As regards the working classes, their gambling is more particularly in connection with sport. Men live, not for the excitement of sport as sport, but for the excitement of winning or losing. People betted who could not afford it, and who had never seen a horse on a race course. Worst of all, women and children are indulging in betting.

They are not necessary to each other. The one in its essence is evil; the other in its essence is good."

CRUSHED BY BIG ROCK

Workman Might Be Living Had He Attended Rites for Dead Friend.

Special to The Tribune. BUTTE, Mont. Aug. 31.—Had Louis Eliskovich attended the funeral of his friend, Ned O'Hoolahan, he would probably now be enjoying life with the rest of his fellows. The men were members of the crew which is working on the new ratirond grade in the Madison canyon, near Norris.

Killed by Flying Rock.

A binst was set off and O'Hoolahan and his men retired to what was considered a place of safety. But a large piece of rock came hurling a distance of 600 feet through the air and struck O'Hoolahan on the head, killing him almost instantly. He was a well-known prospector, having lived in Madison county for the past thirty years. His remains were buried in Red Bluff cemetery. Eliskovich, one of his crew, said that he did not care to attend the funeral, and remained at work.

Huge Boulder Crushes Him.

A heavy rainstorm came on and Eliskovich sought shelter under a jutting rock a short distance below the grade where he was working in a little while the great rush of water washed away the earth from around the rock and the huge boulder, weighing nearly a ton, fell upon the unfortunate man, crushing out his life. After his fellow workmen returned from O'Hoolahan's funeral they missed Eliskovich, and upon instituting search found his mangled corpse with the big rock resting upon it.
